Save the Date: Final MNTP Symposium

Wednesday, May 17 and Thursday, May 18, 2017

Dear Colleagues:

We invite you to attend the final neuroscience symposium of the NIH Multimodal Neuroimaging Training Program, sponsored by the Center for the Neural Basis of Cognition and the University of Pittsburgh Brain Institute.

Our final symposium will feature talks by leading neuroscientists who are conducting cutting-edge research on early life adversity and the developing brain, self-regulation, emotion, social cognition, physical health, and quantitative modeling of brain function.

Our speakers will include:

- Luke Chang, Dartmouth College, <http://cosanlab.com>
- Mauricio Delgado, Rutgers University, <http://nwkpsych.rutgers.edu/~delgado/>
- Lisa Feldman Barrett, Northeastern University, <http://www.affective-science.org>
- Margaret Sheridan, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, <http://circlelab.unc.edu>
- Peter Sterling, University of Pennsylvania, <http://www.med.upenn.edu/apps/faculty/index.php/g275/p7333>
- Moriah Thomason, Wayne State University, moriaht@gmail.com
- Thalia Wheatley, Dartmouth College, <http://www.wheatlab.com>
- Tal Yarkoni, University of Texas, <http://talyarkoni.org>

The symposium will also include neuroscientists from the Pitt and CMU communities, and there will be lunches and a reception to foster interaction and dialogue among presenters and attendees.

Space will be limited.

Sincerely,

Pete Gianaros, Tim Verstynen, Tristen Inagaki, and Jamie Hanson
